

A Message from the McCall MacBain Foundation

To our community of grantees, partners, scholarship recipients, volunteers, supporters, and friends,

John and Marcy McCall MacBain, with their Board and staff, have decided to accelerate their giving and complete the Foundation's active operations by December 31, 2027.

Since inception in 2007, we established our Foundation as a time-bound effort to contribute to progress on complex challenges. As we reflected on nearly 20 years of philanthropy, we recognized that we have developed the confidence, clarity, and partnerships that enable us to give more and sooner, in line with our original vision.

Over the coming months, we look forward to announcing major gifts with a few existing partners who we believe can have a transformational impact in our priority areas: expanding opportunities for young people through scholarships and leadership development programs, advancing climate action and nature conservation, and strengthening communities through health and wellness initiatives. In so doing, John and Marcy will fulfill their commitment to the Giving Pledge in 2028.

At this time, we are working closely with grantees to conclude our partnerships thoughtfully and with care. The McCall MacBain Scholarships at McGill will remain the largest grantee of the McCall MacBain Foundation and is a proud symbol of our commitment to scholarships.

For information on the 2027 selections of the McCall MacBain Scholarships at McGill, please visit their website, and for our other scholarship and fellowship programs, please visit our website.

While the McCall MacBain Foundation will wrap up as an active grant-making organization, it will remain a vehicle for John and Marcy's personal philanthropy.

We extend our deepest gratitude to our many collaborators, both for the positive change you have led and for the joy of partnering alongside you.
